

CIMARRON

ITS MINING RESOURCES

JUST Above Cimarron in the high mountains, are the Cimarroncito, Urraca, Bonito, Ute Creek and Elizabethtown mining districts. In these districts untold wealth has tantalized the prospector from the time the Spanish government tied it up in the shape of an enormous land grant until March 15th, 1908, when mineral scrip covering the entire district was issued and placed on sale at Cimarron and elsewhere. Prospectors can now purchase scrip, locate claims, and exchange the scrip for patented title involving no obligation for development or assessment work on the property. This arrangement which is better for the miner and prospector than the terms offered by the United States Government on the Public Domain, is without parallel in the history of mining and is copyrighted.

By reason of this specially advantageous arrangement, which cannot be duplicated elsewhere, the mineral resources of Colfax county will experience a more rapid development than any other mining district known.

Cimarron lies between this district and the great Colfax county coal fields. The ore and the coke both come down hill to Cimarron and the haul is short, neither can go around and neither can be hauled by Cimarron without going up hill. At Cimarron then, will be the smelters, reduction works, assay offices and the headquarters of the mining companies.

There is gold enough to make it another Cripple Creek and iron enough to make it a Pueblo. No where nearer than the Lake Superior region is there so much iron, and no where else is so much iron adjacent to so much coke.

ROGER SULLIVAN CHOSEN NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN

Colonel Guffy, of Pennsylvania, Bitterly Attacks Bryan--Auditorium Dedicated Sunday--Convention Opens Today

Denver, July 6.—After a warm fight this afternoon a caucus of the Illinois delegation to the Democratic convention here, resulted in Roger Sullivan being chosen as national committeeman by a vote of 47½ to 5½. Dudley, who has been so persistent in his trials for recognition, was relegated to a back seat.

Convention Opens Today.

Denver, July 6.—Thirty thousand people have passed through the gates of the Union depot of this city since aturday night. Nearly all of them are in the city to attend the convention, which will be opened tomorrow morning when Temporary Chairman Theodore Bell of California calls the convention to order at 10 o'clock.

Among the notables who have arrived today are Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Medill McCormick, owner of the Chicago Tribune; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Parker, Tiffany Blake, Norman Hapgood, George Porter and W. B. Connor.

Guffy Attacks Bryan.

Denver, July 6.—The removal of James M. Guffy as national committeeman, now seems assured. As this would be a body blow to bossism in Pennsylvania politics, the matter is of national importance. That the Guffy forces are thoroughly alarmed was evident from the strenuous efforts to change the complexion of the caucus held at the Savoy hotel last night, at which it was shown that thirty-five of the sixty-eight delegates are against the Standard Oil boss, not counting the nine delegates who will be contested, and that Bryan has a strength of fifty-one.

Definite developments are expected to result from the caucus to be held today, and the indications are that Boss Guffy will be in the minority in his own delegation.

Sunday was a strenuous day for the Pennsylvania boss. He put in most of the night before preparing a statement attacking Bryan. Yesterday morning he decided to issue the statement, but suddenly changed his mind, so it was reported, and did not issue the statement till evening. Things took a sensational turn immediately afterward, when a story was circulated that affords a definite example of the bushwhacking with which Bryan charged Guffy. The story is told by Judge John F. Short, a prominent delegate from Pennsylvania, and vouched for by Congressman Howard Mutchler, who is also here.

In brief, it shows Guffy in the role of betraying the Democratic nominee for governor of Pennsylvania and making a deal with Senator Boies Penrose of the Republican machine.

MYSTERIOUS MAN GIVES $5,000 TO A COLLEGE

Albert Lea, Minn., July 6.—Albert Lea college has just been made the recipient of another gift of $5,000 from a resident in Minneapolis, who is too modest to permit his name to be known. President Augur says that during the past thirty days he has received an average of $1,000 a day in subscriptions for carrying on the work of the institution and he is pushing the business with all possible speed. He further says that during the two years since the college has been in his charge he has received on an average of $1,000 per week.

Los Angeles, July 6.—Four children and the father of two of them are dead and six persons are injured as the result of a collision between a farm wagon containing eight children, two men and one woman, and an electric car on the Santa Ana line near Watts, about ten miles from this city, last night.
